“When written in Chinese, the word “crisis” is composed of two characters. One represents danger and the other represents opportunity.”

- John F. Kennedy

Executive Summary

In late 2020, after enduring COVID lockdowns, BATForce and Give Where You Live Foundation learnt that many community agencies close over the festive season, coincidentally exactly when the need for crisis support is substantially high.

In response, the Give Where You Live Foundation funded BATForce to develop a regional Holiday Help campaign, which provided contacts for accessible crisis support, for distribution via social media. With minimal funding, the social media campaigns were shared widely, and the accompanying posters were distributed throughout the Geelong region.

Post campaign an analysis of social media analytics articulated that a total of 38,739 individuals were reached, with an average of 75% of users being predominantly female. This analysis highlighted the necessity for crisis support material to reach a male audience, in the right place and at the right time.

The Leaders for Geelong Project Team strongly support the approach of BATForce to target men aged 25 – 60 years of age across the community. Furthermore, based on professional and lived experience, the Project Team proposed that post-crisis and community connections point be included within the community toolkit to cover a holistic approach for the users of the resource.

Message from Sponsor

BATForce has spent the last two years working with a broad community of agencies through the CO+CHAT model to develop resources for the region. During this time the Holiday Help resource which morphed into the Quick Help Guide was developed.

Every project has to begin with a 'why'. For BATForce a number of the messages we were receiving re the resource were from Parents and Grandparents who were struggling in their own lives, or struggling to gain support for Families. For BATForce who have a core vision of strengthening the eco systems that Young People exist within , this meant the project was a no brainer, so we jumped in.

Over the two year period we have been using the campaign it became evident it required two things:

1. A back end which pointed users to broader support information
2. A communications plan that enabled us to better reach cohorts that appeared to be missing in our analytics, for this project it meant Men 25-55 years.

The Leaders for Geelong Project answered the call and have supported the beginning of the development of a support board which will make up the back end of both the Holiday Help and the Quick Help Guide. The will also provide BATForce with a communication plan that will enable us to target our reach better. The timing has been great as this will be ready right in time for the Christmas holidays.

The Leaders group have done some evidenced based research of their own, as they have moved in and out of WFH and office based work, a number of members of the group have endured COVID and the challenges that come with what 2022 has produced .

BATForce and the CO+CHAT group look forward to taking this project forward and would like the thank both the Committee for Geelong and the Leaders Program for helping this continue to be a community driven and solution focused project.

Team Introduction

Andy Bugeja
Plumbing Teacher, The Gordon

Andy is an enthusiastic and passionate plumbing teacher delivering high level trades training to a diverse cohort in the Vocational Education Training sector. Formally Andy owned and operated a small plumbing business in the Geelong region and it is through this experience combined with his committed and positive approach to teaching and learning that Andy continually challenges the status quo of trades training. Andy enacts his strong personal values and takes his responsibility in being a role model to his students seriously.

Casey Buttler

Our Project Purpose

The Right Time, Right Place Community Toolkit will be a guide for crisis, post-crisis and holistic support services and resources throughout the greater Geelong community. Through a community awareness and engagement campaign, available crisis, post-crisis, and holistic support materials available for people within the greater Geelong region, with a targeted launch for men aged 25 – 60 years.

The Right Time, Right Place Community Toolkit will be support material that guides a person to self-improvement, personal growth, and connection to one's community and is designed to target men who have experienced a crisis or a significant change of circumstance and need support.

Project Approach

Our project approach was based on a customer centric need based community requirement, where we researched to help identify where the people may need support in areas of crisis of the holiday season.

Operational Approach

- Weekly Project Team Meeting – a way for us to connect, share progress, discuss issues and work on solutions
- Monthly Progress Report – actioned each month, identifying what we have done, what we are doing and if there are any identified risks
- Monthly Mentor check ins – allowing our mentor to assist with advising and sharing experiences whilst concentrating on how the project is progressing
- Monthly champion check ins – a monthly discussion to inform BATForce and champion of actions taken and how we endeavor to progress forward
- Project progress board – a visual document which states tasks, responsibilities, action items and timelines
- Ongoing research to identify supports for the Right Place, Right Time Community Toolkit
- Networking and forming relationships with stakeholders to grow connections in supporting our project vision
- Research to identify right social media resources to communicate and launch, in right place and right time community resource.
- Research into marketing material to promote the BATForce and the Right place, right time community toolkit.
- Research to propose social media campaign over the holiday period.

Project Deliverables

Right place, Right time project deliverables were:

- Community toolkit for Greater Geelong Community focusing on men aged 24-60 experiencing a crisis or significant change in circumstances
- Engagement strategy to connect community resources withing the Geelong Community
- Innovative Communication plan
- Launch proposal including marketing propositions

The project scope was identified in responding to a previous holiday campaign launch, that targeted crisis supports in the region. The campaign recognised an identifiable gap in the targets. The project recognised that the audience target response were notably women. The campaign was to also have reached crisis support had also to reach notably men aged 24-60.

In delivering a holistic approach that recognised men aged 24 to 60 required support services at a point of crisis or a significant change of circumstance and need support. Where family members acknowledge that the men in their lives may require assistance.

In communicating the support services available and where and when these can be accessed, the notably right place and right time was noted.

Project Deliverables

In identifying crisis and significant change services that project team worked through to identify support categories as:

- Urgent crisis support
- Where do I start
- Health & wellbeing
- Personal care & hygiene
- Managing grief
- Food relief & nutrition
- Alcohol, frugs gambling & addiction
- Money & legal
- Housing homelessness & accommodation
- Navigating relationships & parenting
- Work & career
- Inclusive communities
- Getting into the greater Geelong community.

Each support category has identified local Geelong organizations with links to contact numbers and details. Accompanied with podcasts and Ted talks .

The project team recognizes that the tool kit can continuously be updated with new resources to support the people in the Geelong region dealing with crisis and significant change.

In communicating the support services available and where and when these can be accessed, the notably right place and right time was noted.

“Leadership is ultimately about creating a way for people to make something extraordinary to happen”.

- Alan Keith

Project Challenges

One of the challenges in our region isn't a lack of crisis and post crisis support services, in fact, there are so many support services that a challenge is knowing where to start and which service is best suited to you.

There is no single point resource to help navigate the plethora of support services, therefore the need for the development and distribution of this toolkit arose.

Identifying which support services to promote within the resource was also a challenge, being mindful not to present as aligned to any particular political or religious cohorts

Scope creep was another challenge the group faced, "crisis" is so multifaceted that we found ourselves like mechanics, lifting the hood to address one issue and finding so many more. Being the empaths we are, we wanted to address every type of crisis we could imagine and go really large, however, capacity and budget brought us back down to earth and we had to remind ourselves of our original brief, getting crisis support resources into the hands of men ages between 21-65 at the times they need it.

Starting a project with a group of strangers with varying levels of project experience was at times a challenge but we are really proud of how we have leveraged one another's strengths and worked together as a team.

Project Opportunities

The Right place, Right time project has led to key connection points between key stakeholders being BATForce, Leaders for Geelong, Sponsors and Geelong community groups. This project will lead opportunities for key connections points to be further engaged as part of the ongoing work through the BATForce as well as the opportunity for Geelong community groups to interface directly with the community toolkit.

The potential for ongoing marketing campaigns to promote the tool kit and available crisis support services in the Geelong community. Allowing for communication of to be within the holiday season as well as promoted throughout the year.

The opportunity for the project toolkit to be directly connected to other possible crisis support services both in Geelong and the broader state services. The community toolkit will allow for broader services to be connected allowing for a broader reach of the Geelong community to help assist neighborhoods outside of Geelong.

Key Learnings

Crisis support campaigning and delivering of a community toolkit to support the Geelong community in times right place and right place, have been a major accomplishment for the project team. The project team wish to acknowledge the opportunity that they have had and hope that the contribution they have made helps the Geelong region and the people through crisis or significant change.

The project team have been passionate in the contribution they have provided to the project given their lived in experience with family, friends and community to support the great cause. The diversity of the project group and the different skills and experience made for easy collaboration design creation and growth of ideas.

We are extremely proud in our project and look forward to seeing the project operational in the community of Geelong.

We wish to acknowledge the support from the Committee of Geelong (especially Catherine Bell), our project sponsor and our project mentor.

We also wish to acknowledge our own organizations for providing us with the opportunity to contribution to the project in helping our local community for such a great cause.

Recommendations

- BATForce continues to host and promote the Right Time Right Place resource on their website as part of their Quick Help Guide, especially during times that people may be more likely to need help. This would be over the holiday periods or times of significant change, such as when the COVID-19 pandemic began
- BATForce can promote the Right Time Right Place resource across their social media accounts, and encourage sharing to personal and professional networks of their followers.
- BATForce engages with men aged between 25 and 60 in the Geelong region to test and validate how the Right Time Right Place resource would be of assistance. This could include focus groups, surveys or individual interviews or feedback from men or their friends, families and peers.
- Furthermore, during this testing and validation activity, BATForce could also consider if there is alternate publication methods other than Trello to share the Right Time Right Place resource.
- The 2023 Leaders for Geelong Leadership team consider as a project opportunity for expanding on resources and support for men aged 25-60 in the Geelong region.

Conclusion

We hope that through campaigning the support services and planting the seeds of change, that this will provide the toolkit needed to assist at a time of crisis or support.

Providing crisis support through the holiday period and ensuring that this is reaching the right place at the right time is instrumental in supporting the Geelong community.

Providing crisis support through the holiday period and ensuring that this is reaching the right place at the right time is instrumental in supporting the Geelong community.

Project Outline

Barwon Adolescent Taskforce (BATForce) is partnering with the Committee for Geelong's 2022 leadership program to deliver a project for the greater Geelong community.

BATForce works to improve the opportunities for young people by working with and providing support to the eco-systems that young people exist within. BATForce is an alliance of organisations in the G21 region with a stake in the provision of services with and for young people.

One of the key initiatives delivered by BATForce across the Geelong region is the Quick Help Guide. This is a high impact resource that lists key services and organisations across the Geelong region for people to access in times of need. It includes details for housing, food relief, mental health support and many other essential services for all people in the Greater Geelong region.

Over the December 2021 and January 2022 holiday period, BATForce identified that while there was significant usage and access of the Quick Help Guide resource, there was a poor representation of men aged between 25 and 60 utilising the resource.

BATForce worked closely with the Committee for Geelong to sponsor a project that would further promote the Quick Help Guide across Geelong, while also developing an additional resource that specifically targeted men aged 25-60 in the Greater Geelong region.

The project Right Time, Right Place will design and deliver a community resource that provides guidance for men aged 25 – 60 that have experienced a crisis or a significant change of circumstance and need support. This resource will work in alignment with the Quick Help Guide developed by BATForce.

The Right Time, Right Place resource is a holistic approach to self-improvement, personal growth and connection to one’s community. Depending on the situation, it encourages resilience, education, support and provide direction allowing members of our community to learn new skills and strategies to become the best version of themselves.

The project will be developed and maintained on the platform Trello. The Trello will then form a toolkit which will be published and hosted on BATForce’s website working in alignment BATForce’s Quick Help Guide. The developed communications and launch plan will help to ensure that the resource reaches the intended male audience, in the right place and at the right time.

Communications Objectives

Objective 1: Ensure service support networks and connection points are accurately captured within the Right Time, Right Place toolkit. Whilst ensuring that the toolkit is published as a community support guide for men experiencing a crisis’ or a significant change of circumstances and need support.

Objective 2: Ensure that the greater Geelong community are aware of the Quick Help Guide and the Right Time, Right Place toolkit and has the knowledge and ability to access it especially during the holiday period commencing in December 2022.

Objective 3: Ensure all stakeholders of the project (BATForce and Leaders for Geelong) are aware of the project, including key deliverables, progress, and outcomes.

BATForce and Leaders for Geelong Project Team

Background

Barwon Adolescent Taskforce (BATForce) is partnering with the Committee for Geelong's 2022 leadership program to deliver a project for the greater Geelong community.

The project Right Time, Right Place will design and deliver a community resource that provides guidance for men aged 25 – 60 that have experienced a crisis or a significant change of circumstance and need support. This resource will work in alignment with the Quick Help Guide developed by BATForce in 2020.

The Right Time, Right Place resource is a holistic approach to self-improvement, personal growth and connection to one's community. Depending on the situation, it encourages resilience, education, support and provide direction allowing members of our community to learn new skills and strategies to become the best version of themselves.

The project will be developed and maintained on the platform Trello. The Trello will then form a toolkit which will be published and hosted on BATForce's website working in alignment BATForce's Quick Help Guide. The developed communications and launch plan will help to ensure that the resource reaches the intended male audience, in the right place and at the right time.

At times battled anxiety and depression and to say I’ve struggled would be an understatement. In 2018 I was at my lowest and I said to myself, I need to change; I cannot live like this anymore. What came next was three and half years of the most profound journey of personal growth and self-improvement. Through trial and error, I managed to pull myself out of the darkness and into the light. By understanding what was causing my mental health issues, I could process the trauma and fear that had followed me throughout my life. I created a process of self-care and with practice, I use the different strategies and techniques which help me move past any issues that would historically cause me to spiral into depression. Today my tool kit has allowed me to become the man I was meant to be, and I am proud to say I am the best version of myself for what’s truly important, my family. Having crisis support in the right time, and at the right place is my gift to you, your mates, and your family. View, download and share the below resource wisely and together we can plant the seed of change. Quick Help Guide - BATForce #righttime #rightplace #greatergeelong #menofgreatergeelong #BATForce #quickhelpguide #supportduringcrisis #committeeforgeelong |
